Good News, Another Purgatory Milestone

Workday Saturday Aug.7, 2010 good things happened. Temperature was near 95, sky was overcast for most of the day and the members of MS Peacemakers put in a workday. Three (3) dividing walls between the stages were erected. The walls are near 8' tall and near 70' long. They are magnificent. They rise into the sky like the Great Wall of China. We used all the creosote timbers. They were stacked like bricks, drilled and steel pinned, hurricane strapped then sandwiched between to 6" x 6" treated posts...which were bolted together and concreted in the dirt. They are sturdy.

I believe everyone worked as hard as they could and as the heat would allow. Two of our young members Box Canyon and Tin Burrow were up on ladders catching creosote timbers as they were being stacked. They did men's work and need to be treated accordingly.

Attending workday were:

Dead Eye Doc	Freestate	Diamond Lill	Squinter
Whitey	Gringo	Dirty	Piney Woods Slim
Harpe	Buckbow	Homewood	MS Hillbilly
Box Canyon Bradford		Grumpy McSwade	J.P.Nasty
Iron Mule	Tin Burrow	No Name	Big Nasty
Leatherneck	Ms Debbie	Parson	Woodie B
Cohay Jones

Workdays are hard on everyone. We had a lot of people but we needed everybody. We rented two pieces of equipment trying to prevent chancing hurting anyone. Everyone had other things that needed to be done but the people listed above came anyway.

Parson's Comments

Howdy folks. We had 11 cowboy shooters turn into lobsters on our fifth Saturday shoot. I think by the end of the day everyone felt like they had been steamed, boiled, or baked. All they needed was a little melted butter and that would have completed it. I was running late so people set up some quick and fast stages. Course when I showed up, I didn't know we would have a gang of outlaws also make it into town. One of the outlaws used both guns while the others were just content on one at a time. Also, by the end of the day, one of the outlaws decided he had had enough. He decided he'd rather go back straight than to keep running fer his life. He said that outlaw life just wasn't for him. We just kept shooting outlaws but they just wouldn't give up. Freestate, the head of the gang, was recruiting and will probably be recruiting in the future so watch out and be on the alert. He's a mighty persuasive type that likes to get his gang in lots of trouble slinging lead and scattering shot all over the place. Whitey needed a box of shotgun shells per stage while Lefty and Goofus played along. Freestate did say that shooting outlaw would be funner if he did it in black powder but, I don't see that happening too soon. We all stayed cool and safe but, I think the heat has fried Freestate's brain just a bit. All he could say when he got ready to shoot was, "OUTLAW". Wonder if he will ever talk Shortstuff into joining the gang? I don't think she likes missing targets that much. So in the future, keep on the lookout for Freestate and his gang of outlaws, guaranteed to be showing up at a shooting place near you real soon. Keep your powder dry and we'll see you soon.
